This Month's Highlights

Curriculum and Instruction

Staffing:

Scott Carpenter has joined the team as the new Auto Collision Repair Technology Instructor. Mark Rund, our new Health Science Education Instructor is scheduled to start on Monday, December 18. We are currently seeking a Diesel Service Technology Instructor.

IMPACT / Work Ethic Certificate:

On Wednesday, December 6, 2017, the Work Ethic Certification Advisory Council met to discuss progress at Central Nine and the future rollout at our sending schools. Three students enrolled in the program, and three Central Nine instructors took part in a panel discussion. Students and staff shared the positives and areas where we could improve the program. All students believed there should be more community service hours involved. At the next meeting in February, business partners will conduct mock interviews with students.

ACTE Vision Conference

Last week, several instructors attended the ACTE Vision Conference in Nashville, TN. Sessions focused on a variety of Career and Technical Education content areas, classroom management, connecting with business partners, and resources. A special congratulations to Corinna Vonderwell, Student Services Coordinator, for being selected as an ACTE Lead for her dedication, commitment, and passion for CTE.

Dean of Students

Field Trips:

Chef Smith's Culinary Arts classes visited Ivy Tech Community College. Chef Swopes Advanced Culinary Arts classes took a field trip to the Smoking Goose Meatery.

Nursing Skills Testing

Mrs. Lawton's Health Science II: Nursing students participated in two grueling days of statewide skills testing right before Thanksgiving break.
